Sales were slightly better early in the week in dry DF and HF species, while SYP and SPF were less active and saw more softness in price. Many buyers are prepping for the next two weeks, which will be shortened by the holidays. OSB continued to slide as most items were readily available, and secondaries found themselves looking for destinations for contract loads in some instances. Next week will be a scramble for anyone looking for prompt shipments as mills and reloads close early for Christmas. Be Safe and Be Merry Everyone!
