Prices are F.O.B. mill, excluding freight

A holiday shortened week and another week of bad weather across much of the viewing area had no motivating effect on the still over supplied market. Activity levels are low and most buyers sat on the sidelines. SYP is absolutely in the tank with no foresight of change. DF and Spruce prices have continued to drift. The fire that was threatening an OSB mill in Alberta has changed direction and is no longer a threat, and has left prices flat in the West and soft elsewhere.

Get ready..we are going to go straight from a rainy spring to a 100 degree summer!
