It's week 6 of this run and prices are still advancing. In the Western markets both green and dry DF posted modest double digit increases. Gains were stronger in Texas, the South East, and up the Eastern Seaboard. Next to nothing is available at the mill level as it has already been bought up by wholesalers who were able to easily turn the loads at hefty premiums. Panel activity across the country was less than stellar but prices continued to advance. Supply constraints on non-commodity items are not looking to improve any time soon. Plan ahead before it's too late.
