The trek to the top of the market continued during the first week of 2022. It's hazy and if you squint real hard you might convince yourself that you can see the top, but that may just be wishful thinking. Inventories and availability remain tight. Those who have wood are getting paid. SYP is still leading the way up in lumber. Studs of all species are very difficult to source. Panels gained momentum with the increases getting steeper. Nope, that probably wasn't the top you saw. Tighten your straps and trudge on.
