Winter weather in the western U.S. did little to slow the run up in prices. The market is still a buckin' and a snortin' as we roll out of 2021 into another year filled with uncertainty - talk about your Roaring 20's! SYP continues to lead the race to the top as supply remains tight and cost remains secondary. Futures, which had given up large chunks of ground last week, have gained it all back and then some. Inventory levels remain extremely lean at the distribution level. Jobs needing quick wood will be forced to pay up, and even then will likely have to wait. Enjoy your long weekend and Happy New Year to all!
