Last weeks surge in Dry DF studs slowed as mills struggled to extend order files and prices flattened. An increase in volume and offers from secondaries helped pull buyers back to the sidelines to reassess the market strength. 2x4 & 2x6 SYP has found a trading level while 2x8 thru 2x12 has a bit more to give up. SPF has firmed and is moving upward. OSB pricing in the West & the East remained in a two tiered market as distribution yards sold off lean inventories at a premium and more rumors of some mills discounting to move off excess inventories. Plywood has firmed on both coasts as mills have 2 – 3 week order files. Summer is coming to an end, boy that was fast! Guess it's time to pick your teams and get ready for some football!!
