Markets continue to be a mixed picture with some items firming up and others seeing softness. SYP dimension saw the narrows firm up while the wides gave ground. GDF continued to dip, as did some dry DF items. SPF narrows remain soft. In the panel world, LP announced a curtailment at their Jasper, TX mill causing some mills to raise asking prices in the South. Western plywood saw double digit gains as a reported increase in veneer prices created some buy in. Southern plywood mills did not enjoy the same action and remain mired at the same levels they've been in for weeks. Dry studs continue to give a little ground. Clear as mud, right? Enjoy your Labor Day weekend and some extra time away from the grind!
